2,260 FARMERS GET NOTICES ON CORN ACREAGE

Twenty-two hundred and sixty Adams county farmers have been mailed cards listing their corn acreage allotments for 1950. H. L. Sell of the county Production and Marketing Administration committee said today.

He noted that the reduction in acreage asked is based on an approximately 20 per cent cut below the average acreage planted during the past three years as reported by the farmers during the fall of 1949.

That cut, about 19.7 per cent, is in line with the national average (Please Turn to Page 6)

UPPER COUNTY LIONS BACKING NEW FAIR PLAN

The Upper Adams County Lions club went on record as being in favor of a proposed plan for liquidation of the indebtedness of the South Mountain Community and Fair association through a change in policy on admissions and concessions.

Prof. L. V. Stock of the association's public relations committee explained the proposed plan. "We have in the community," he stated, "an auditorium that seats from 1,500 to 1,800 people. We are very fortunate to have such facilities. It puts us in a position to bring into the community the highest type of entertainment."

Prof. Stock added: "We have the responsibility of financing this project. This needs careful study. We are confronted with the problem of developing this project. In order to promote the type of project that will be appreciated, all possible revenue from the South Mountain fair should go toward the liquidation of its debt."

Given Illustrated Lecture
Referring to the past policy of the association Mr. Stock asserted: "It has been the policy to do away with a central dining room. Concessions have been promised to specified organizations. Now it seems that that policy should be reversed so that more money can be re-channelled back into the treasury of the fair association. This project requires the whole-hearted support of the community."

An illustrated lecture was presented by H. C. Fetterolf, for 35 years chief of agriculture in the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction. Mr. Fetterolf's lecture concerned his travels in Germany and Korea as a consultant in agriculture education.

He declared the only thing which these two countries have in common is beautiful natural scenery. "You are impressed," he said, "by the wealth and resources you see in Germany. While the cities bear the scars of war there is no trace of such destruction in the rural areas. Germany is recovering rapidly. Industry is coming along and is putting out goods of excellent quality, although old and laborious farm tools and methods are still in use where the women do most of the farm work."

Referring to education he said: "I was disappointed in their educational system and in their attitude toward education. Eighty per cent of the children go to school only four hours a week, five months a year. Colleges and universities are only for the select few. Only secondary teachers get pensions. Only after

Here And There News Collected At Random

The traditional Easter parade of feminine finery was begun by Emperor Constantine of Rome. Early in the Fourth century he was converted to Christianity. To honor the Feast of Christ's Resurrection, he decreed elaborate ceremonies at which his entire court appeared in new robes.

Almost all of today's colorful Easter traditions, from gaily-hued Easter eggs to cherry Easter greeting cards, similarly stem from centuries-old religious customs and practices.

Next Sunday is Easter. Officially, Easter is the Sunday following the first full moon of springtime—a formula dating back to the Old Testament.

When the Israelites were in bondage in Egypt, Moses led them forth by the light of springtime's first full moon. This became the Jewish Passover season. Jesus was celebrating the Passover when he was seized and crucified. So the early Christians established Easter—as a "movable feast" like the Passover, calculated on the same ancient lunar calendar to ensure that the two holy days would always occur only a few days apart.

Early Christians worshipped in secret because of Roman persecution. At Easter time, on the walls of the catacombs, they drew crosses adorned with flowers.

History Of Shriver Family Is Given At Historical Society Meeting Here Tuesday Evening

Kenneth K. Kroh, Littlestown, outlined the history of the Shriver family, first settlers in the Littlestown area, at the regular meeting of the Adams County Historical society Tuesday evening in the court house.

The Shriver family left the Palatinate region of Germany in 1721 for the new world to escape the wars and persecutions that had ravaged their land for 130 years, Kroh declared.

In the family then were Andrew Schreiber, his wife, Anna Margaretha, a step-son, David Young, born in 1699; Ludwig Schreiber, born in 1709; Andrew, Jr., born in 1712, and Anna Margaretha born in 1715. Andrew Schreiber, Jr., was the Andrew Schreiber who later became the first Adams county settler in the Littlestown area. David Young also became one of the early settlers of the county.

LAUDS FIREMEN FOR SERVICES

Appreciation for services rendered by the Gettysburg fire department at Hanover Saturday morning, in the form of a letter from Burgess Horace J. Stine, was received by Burgess William G. Weaver this morning.

"It has been most gratifying and heartening to us here in Hanover for the excellent help your fire company gave in assisting us with men and equipment in the most damaging fire we have had in Hanover in years," the Hanover burgess wrote.

"The fine way that all of the fire companies (who did more than assist us) worked together, all with one object, to put the fire out, was commendable from not only those in official capacities of the borough of Hanover but by most of its citizenry."

"We are indeed grateful to you and the firemen and ask you to please convey our thanks and my personal thanks for your able and valuable assistance. It is our hope it will not become necessary to reciprocate in kind to such an extent, but should it ever, please call on us."

RED CROSS HAS $7,342.35; MAKE SUMMER PLANS

The drive for funds for the Adams County Red Cross continued throughout most of the county today as solicitors, held up through March by epidemics of gripe and colds, attempted to complete their house to house canvass.

Only a few communities had made complete reports up to this morning, and many sections had not as yet made any reports at all. A total of $7,342.35 has been collected so far, leaving $5,399.65 yet to be obtained before the quota will have been reached.

Officials of the drive expressed the opinion that the drive would reach a successful finish but they feared that it might take another month before all reports are in and the total reached. One of the communities reporting today was Bonneauville, with canvassers from that community turning in $60.

Plan Swimming Classes

While solicitors were making what promises to be the most complete coverage of any Red Cross drive so far, the county chapter was going ahead with its usual summer plans for swimming instruction in various pools.

ELECTRIC POLES BLOWN DOWN BY STRONG WINDS

High winds which blew down five Metropolitan Edison poles at Gardners Tuesday afternoon cut off electric power to Biglerville from 2:30 to 3:43 o'clock.

Richard E. Dreas, manager of the local area of the electric utility, said that the blowing over of the poles affected not only the Metropolitan Edison but 4-dams Electric Cooperative, Inc., transmission lines in the upper Adams area. The cooperative secures its current from the Metropolitan Edison.

Failure of an automatic breaker to operate at the Gettysburg sub-station of the utility actually caused the failure of power at Biglerville, Dreas said.

Crews Worked All Night

Ordinarily the lines are so interconnected that power flows either way between the Gardners station and Gettysburg through Biglerville.

When the five poles crashed to the ground in the storm, automatic breaker switches at Gettysburg, Biglerville and Gardners sub-stations cut off. Under normal conditions the halt would be reflected only as a blink of lights with the breakers at Gettysburg and Biglerville immediately returning to normal position and restoring power on all parts of the line except that immediately affected by the break, Dreas explained.

The new sub-station at Biglerville operated perfectly he said, but the (Please Turn to Page 5)

Exchange Club Sees Willow Run Film

A sound movie, "The Willow Run Story," showing the erection of the Willow Run bomber plant and the manufacture and testing of B-24 bombers during the war, was shown as a feature of the regular weekly dinner meeting of the Exchange club of Gettysburg Tuesday night at Banker's restaurant.

The film was obtained by Glenn Guise, president of the club, who presided at the business session, and shown by David Garfinkle.

The club adopted a resolution commending Charles Bender for his suggestion that a statue of Abraham Lincoln be erected in Lincoln Square, and heard a report from Dewey E. McCauslin on proposed club activities.

CHAMBER SEEKS TO REVIVE OLD MEMORIAL ROAD

Four members of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, including State Senator Donald P. McPherson, Jr., conferred Tuesday in Washington with Congressman James P. Lind, of the York-Adams-Franklin district, and Congressman James Glenn Beall, of the Sixth Maryland district, on the proposed Memorial highway between Washington and Gettysburg.

Chamber members were Henry W. Garvin, president, Glenn Guise and N. A. Meligakis. The meeting was held in Congressman Lind's office, with H. J. Spelman, National Parkways administration, Washington, also in attendance.

Mr. Spelman presented the plans prepared under authorization of an act of the 74th Congress in 1935, which included three possible routes for the memorial highway. He also had plans of the old Chesapeake and Ohio canal, which he said might be used as the route of a new highway authorized between Washington and Cumberland, Md.

Not Federal Project

It was suggested that the Washington-Gettysburg memorial highway might connect with this route at a point about 20 miles south of Frederick. It was explained at the meeting that the congressional act of 1935 did not set up the memorial route as a federal project but provided that it be constructed by the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Before further action is taken determination as to what the states of Pennsylvania and Maryland will do in connection with the highway will be sought.

Another meeting is expected to be held in about three weeks, and members of the chamber said assurances had been obtained from Ray F. Smock, Pennsylvania secretary of highways, that he will attend the meeting.

CRACK DOWN ON FALSE CLAIMS FOR CIGARETTES

Washington, April 5 (AP)—The government today ordered a crack-down on what is called "false and misleading advertising" by some major cigarette makers.

The Federal Trade Commission directed two of the largest companies to halt certain claims that one brand of cigarettes is superior to another.

The so-called "cease and desist" orders were against R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., makers of Camel cigarettes, and the P. Lorillard Co., producers of Old Gold.

Other Actions Pending

FTC said it also is considering similar action against the American Tobacco Co., and its Lucky Strike cigarettes as well as Philip Morris, Ltd., and the cigarettes which bear that company's name.

All cigarettes contain varying amounts of nicotine and throat irritants, the Commission said in announcing its action, "and there is no reliable basis in fact for advertising claims that one brand is superior to another in these respects."

FTC's action against the cigarette makers was the outgrowth of proceedings started in August, 1942.

Its order that Camels and Old Golds halt what FTC found to be "false and misleading advertising" represents a final decision on the Commission. The companies may appeal to the courts, however.

Aside from the contemplated action against Lucky Strike and Philip Morris cigarettes, the Commission said in its 4,000-word statement that it is studying the advertising practices of Pall Mall cigarettes, made by American Cigarette and Cigar Co. of Durham, N. C.

FTC trial examiners already have recommended issuing the "cease and desist" orders against Lucky Strike and Philip Morris.

BOOK LEARNING "BAD" FOR YOUTH

Lancaster, Pa., April 5 (AP)—An Amish father, standing solemnly in the witness stand, explained that teachings of his church warn that book learning is not good for a member of the faith over 14 years old.

That is why, Samuel Beiler, of nearby Gap, told the court yesterday he refused to send his 14-year-old daughter to school.

The Amish church believes that after 14, Amish girls should not be thrown into contact with "disbelievers," members of the outside whom they might join in wedlock, the father added.

The Amish people, Beiler declared, are meant to be "tillers of the soil," adding that after 14, Amish daughters become marriageable.

Beiler and his brother, Levi Beiler, also of Gap, are joining in appealing fines imposed upon them by a justice of the peace for not sending their children to school.

Beiler's daughter, Naomi, is 14, and the brother has a son, Jacob, also 14.

The Lancaster county court ruled, after testimony was completed yesterday, that the case shall be argued at the June term of argument court.

NOTES ON GLADIOLUS CULTURE

Few other flowers are so easy to grow or bring a greater reward in color and form than the hardy gladiolus. Even those who have never grown this flower before usually succeed at the first attempt. A few extra early corms may be planted this week or at least before the middle of April. Of course, planting a few more every ten days to two weeks assures the grower a continuous display of blooms until fall frosts come. The last planting should be made in late June or the first few days of July.

Growers who have become discouraged because the gladiolus thrup has ravaged their plants in recent years may take heart from the fact that control of this pest is now possible, or at least it can be curbed sufficiently to prevent serious injuries.

Three main steps in gladiolus thrip combat are stressed: (1) Disinfect stored corms in early winter by treating them with naphthalene flakes; (2) Soak corms in a 1:1000 solution of mercuric chloride (corrosive sublimate) immediately before planting; (3) Spray the growing plants with an effective insecticide. The first step destroys thrips hibernated in the stored corms and prevents their survival over winter. The second kills any stray thrips likely to remain in the corms at planting time. The advised spraying checks those likely to be introduced into growing plants.

It was formerly believed that these insects lived over winter in gladiolus refuse left in the lawn or garden. But now seems certain they live over only in stored corms, hence the importance at this time of the year of disinfection before planting. This same pre-planting treatment helps also to prevent scab.

Many persons have been mystified by gladioli developing crooked stems, some believing these are symptoms of some strange disease. Here is the simple explanation: Crooked stems are the result of deficient moisture when the stalks are to Philadelphia 37 years ago, where he was a private chauffeur. He was a member of the Upper Meridian church and of St. John's lodge No. 115, P. and A. M.

Surviving are one brother, Charles D. Topper, Philadelphia, and one sister, Mrs. William Starner, Aspers R. 1, and a number of nieces.

Funeral services at the Dugan funeral home, Biglerville, Friday at 2 p. m., the Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble, officiating, and interment in the family lot in the Upper Meridian church cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday night from 7 to 9 p. m.

forming. If this is severe enough to cause the tip to wilt over, the drooping stem never regains its normal shape, even though water is later abundantly supplied. Hence the importance of giving gladioli a deeply mellow loam with plenty of moisture-holding organic matter, plus care in watering to avoid wilting at any time.

Harrisburg, April 5 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff today accused the Grundy-Owlett faction of the Republican party with conducting "guerrilla warfare" in Pennsylvania's primary political campaign.

That was Duff's reply to a verbal attack upon him last night in a radio speech of U. S. Rep. John C. Kunkel.

NO COMMUNISTS, LOYALTY BOARD CHAIRMAN SAYS

Washington, April 5 (AP)—Conrad E. Snow, chairman of the State Department's loyalty board, said today the board knows of no communists in the department.

Snow made the statement to a Senate foreign relations subcommittee investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the department is a haven for communists and their friends.

"If there are any communists in the State Department, the loyalty security board is uninformed of their existence," Snow declared.

Snow and Chairman Seth W. Richardson of President Truman's loyalty review board were called before the committee in a phase of the hearings that is expected to reach its climax tomorrow.

Hear Lattimore Thursday

Owen Lattimore, the Johns Hopkins university professor who McCarthy charges is a top Russian agent, is to be heard tomorrow. Lattimore has called McCarthy's charges a lie.

By the time Lattimore takes the stand, the committee hopes to have from McCarthy papers he says he has to back up his charges against Lattimore. McCarthy has promised to go through his files and select material that he considers valuable.

Demand Data The Senate inquiry committee late yesterday formally demanded that McCarthy surrender to that group all his information which has a bearing on the investigation. There was no specific mention of the Lattimore data, but committee members made it plain that is what they are after.

McCarthy has accused Lattimore, an expert on Far Eastern affairs, of being Russia's top spy in the State Department and the United States. He also told the Senate last week that he can produce mystery witnesses who will swear that Lattimore is a present or past member of the Communist party.

DUFF AND FINE 1ST ON BALLOT

Harrisburg, April 5 (AP)—Gov. James H. Duff, for U. S. Senator, and John S. Fine, for Governor, placed first today on the Republican ballot at the May 16 primary election in Pennsylvania.

The places were designated at the State Election bureau in an all-day drawing of candidates' names to pick the order in which the names will appear on the primary ballot.

Duff and Fine are running on the same ticket for the respective nominations.

U. S. Rep. John C. Kunkel, Duff's opponent for the Senatorial nomination, took second place on the GOP ballot. Jay Cooke, for the Republican gubernatorial candidate, also placed second on that ballot.

Both Kunkel and Cooke are supported by former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

On the Democratic side, Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, drew first place for Governor. He is backed by the Democratic organization for the nomination.

CZECHS SEND TEN CATHOLICS TO JAIL AS SPIES

Prague, Czechoslovakia, April 5 (AP)—A Roman Catholic clergyman was sentenced today by a Prague court to life imprisonment on charges of high treason and spying for the Vatican.

His nine co-defendants, all of them Catholic churchmen, received lighter sentences ranging from two to 25 years.

The official Czechoslovak news agency reported that nine of the clergymen were convicted of either anti-state activity or treason or both. The other drew a two-year sentence because he knew of the activities of the others and did not report them.

Some of the defendants were charged with contacting foreign groups and collecting weapons to be used against the government.

The life imprisonment was ordered for Dr. Jan Mastlik, 39-year-old Redemptorist monk who was director of the Moravian Theological institute.

Newsmen Are Barred

Sentenced to 25 years were Dr. Frantisek Silham, 45, provincial director of the Jesuit order in Czechoslovakia; and Augustin Machalka, 45, abbot of the monastery at Nova Rise, Bohemia.

Western newsmen were barred from the trial, biggest mass prosecution of churchmen since the communist-led government enacted a law last year setting up state control over all churches.

The Czech news agency quoted one prosecutor as charging that the Vatican established an "espionage center" to train priests to spy on the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

The news agency quoted the prosecutor as saying "the clerical order and the monasteries form a devoted army of the Vatican."

(The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said the Prague trial is "writing another characteristic page of anti-Catholic persecution behind the iron curtain.")

Other Sentences

Bohumil Vit Rajovsky, 38, abbot of the monastery in Zeliv, Bohemia—20 years.

Dr. Sylvester Bratko, 52, Dominican monk and professor of theology at the Olomouc university—15 years.

Josef Urban, 39, Franciscan monk—14 years.

Adolf Kaipr, 48, Jesuit monk—12 years.

Jan Biesik, 41, Redemptorist monk—10 years.

Frantisek Mikulasek, 37, Jesuit monk—nine years.

Stanislav Bartak, 35, monk at Nova Rise monastery—two years.

In addition most of the defendants got heavy fines. All except Father Bartak were stripped of citizens' rights for 10 years. He was deprived of rights for three years.

Charge Cruelty In Glass Jug Stunt

Scranton, Pa., April 5 (AP)—Is it cruel to place a tiny rooster in a glass jug?

The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals says it is. Judson P. Bush, who did the placing, says it is not.

Bush is a councilman in nearby Nicholson borough and owns a feed store. He said he placed the rooster in the five-gallon jug three weeks ago to advertise the fact that roosters or chickens can be raised on two pounds of feed up to an age of five or six weeks.

The rooster gets food and water by sticking its head out of a hole cut into the side of the jug, he said.

Bush pleaded innocent to a charge of cruelty to a rooster at a hearing yesterday. He was freed in $500 bail.

MELTING SNOW CAUSES FLOOD

Connersport, Pa., April 5 (AP)—The snow-swollen Allegheny river halted its steady rise early today and residents hoped colder weather would end a serious flood threat.

State police and firemen still are standing by to evacuate townsmen in case the situation changes.

Mounting spring-like temperatures sent large quantities of melting snow running down nearby mountainsides yesterday. The river began rising at the rate of two inches an hour.

Several inches of snow remain on nearby hillsides. An expected drop in temperature would keep the snow from melting.

With the river at a depth of five feet, three-quarter inches, water has slumped over the river banks in low lying areas of this northern Pennsylvania town of 3,200. Flood stage is six and one half feet.

Scores of basements are flooded. There have been no deaths or injuries. Property damage has been slight. Some highways are covered with water. High waters also hold a threat to such down river towns as Olean and Salamanca, N. Y., and Warren and Oil City, Pa.

Many Philadelphia churches have scheduled three-hour services, from 12 noon to 3 p. m. Friday.

Two members of the sixth rescue squadron, of Westover, Mass., parachuted to the crash scene yesterday after the wreckage was sighted from the air.

One of the rescuers, Sgt. David Melville, 29, of Long Island, suffered a fractured foot in the jump. He was released from Easton hospital after treatment. The other chutist was Sgt. Walter Millard, 28, of Providence, R. I.

SEES SEVEN-GAME SERIES

Cleveland, April 5 (AP)—Coach Fred (Bud) Cook said today he was resigned to having the championship series between his Cleveland Barons and the Indianapolis Capitals go the seven-game limit. The series for the American Hockey league crown starts here tonight, and the Barons are anything but over-optimistic. They paced the pack during the regular season by 10½ games, but they had trouble with the Hoosier squad.

STEELER COACH MAY GET POST AT PENN STATE

Pittsburgh, April 5 (AP)—Johnny Michelosen, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football league, will be asked soon if he wants to be head coach at the Pennsylvania State college.

The questioner will be Dr. Carl P. Schott, dean of physical education at Penn State.

Dr. Schott said: "I will have a conference with him very soon. It will not take place today, however."

Asked if it would be a formal job offer, Dr. Schott said: "I cannot say. You can draw your own conclusions."

Earlier Dr. Schott talked by phone with Art Rooney, president of the Steelers, and had received permission to interview Michelosen.

It will not be the first time an emissary from State College has talked to Michelosen. He was approached unofficially as far back as 1947. At that time, Ben C. (Casey) Jones, president of the Penn State Alumni association, told Michelosen they'd back him for the job in the event Bob Higgins retired. Bob retired in March, 1949.

Just last month, shortly after the resignation of Penn State's new coach, Joe Bedenk, Pittsburgh alumni of Penn State recommended Michelosen for the job.

Penn State uses the single-wing, as do the Steelers. Late in 1949, Michelosen signed a two-year contract with the Steelers calling for $12,000 a year. Bedenk is reported to have made about half that much at Penn State.

Baseball Briefs

Berth For Russell

Dallas, Tex., April 5 (AP)—Jimmy Russell, the transplanted Boston Brave outfielder, seems to have won himself a berth with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Assigned to Brooklyn's Montreal farm list, the 30-year-old fly-chaser has been a Dodger to all intents and purposes this spring. He has been seeing action regularly for the Dodgers. He is held in high esteem by Burt Shotton, the Brooks' manager.

"Just the addition of Jim Russell alone would give us a better outfield than last year," Shotton said.

Lonat Effective

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 5 (AP)—Ed Lopat has been one of the New York Yankees' most effective pitchers this spring.

The 31-year-old left-hander, in 22 innings, has allowed only 15 hits and nine runs. He's walked only five men in winning twice against no setbacks.

Lopat worked the first seven innings of yesterday's game, which the Yankees lost to Detroit 6-4. Ed yielded seven hits and two runs.

Braves On Move

Bradenton, Fla., April 5 (AP)—Boston's National League Braves signed a contract to return here for training next spring and then boarded a Tampa-bound bus for the first leg of their trip home. At Tampa the Braves took a train for Columbia, S. C., where they will open a six-game road tour with Cincinnati's Reds tomorrow. Both clubs will move on to Raleigh, N. C., for Friday's game.

Boudreau's Worries

Houston, Tex., April 5 (AP)—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians had two good worries today.

1—A pulled groin muscle which resulted from a bum slide into second base Monday and may bench him for four days.

2—Where to place Bob Kennedy in the lineup.

Aside from those, things were not too bad. Yesterday the Indians pulled a ninth-inning rally to trim the New York Giants, 7-6. They scored Luke Easter with the winning run on a walk, a sacrifice and two singles.

Kennedy is a team player de luxe and he can work third base or right field. The Indians want him to play but Ken Keltner and Al Rosen are ahead of him at third and Luke Easter has the nod for now on right field.

Tiger Casualties Heavy

Lakeland, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers' casualty list is getting serious.

As they broke camp yesterday the Tigers learned that Outfielder Vic Wertz might miss the American league opener at Cleveland April 18 because of an injured foot.

Pitcher Hal Newhouser, with a sore arm, and Second Baseman Gerry Priddy, with a sore back, are the other problems.

Weather Slows Phils

Shreveport, La., April 5 (AP)—If there isn't anything else to worry Manager Eddie Sawyer of the Philadelphia Phillies, there's always the weather.

The Phils ran into their third cancellation since leaving Florida last night at New Orleans and right away Sawyer put up the danger signal.

If his boys aren't able to play soon, said Eddie, they'll lose the fine batting and fielding touch that made them the hottest team in Florida during their final two weeks at Clearwater.

"Hitting is a matter of perfect timing and coordination," said Sawyer. "A week of inactivity can throw that all out of balance."

Pirates Cut Roster

New Orleans, April 5 (AP)—Manager Bill Meyer prepared today to make his first major cut in the Pittsburgh Pirates' roster.

Five players probably will be left here with the New Orleans Pelicans, Pirates' farm club. They likely will include one infielder—Johnny Merson, 26-year-old utility man with the Pelis last season.

The Pirates meet New Orleans today, after sweeping three straight from the New York Giants at Phoenix.

A's To Have 27 Players

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics plan to return home next week with 27 players—10 pitchers, seven infielders, seven outfielders and three catchers.

The A's released eight players yesterday in the most drastic cut of the spring training period. They also signed Pitcher Hank Wyse formally for a reported $8,000 and purchased the contract of Pitcher Harry Byrd from Buffalo of the International league. Bisons' General Manager Leo Miller said the price was "substantially above" the $10,000 claiming figure.

Three of the players released were optioned to Buffalo—utility infielder Ted Davis, outfielder Bob Betz and Pitcher Ed Burtschy.

Tom Hamilton and Walter Kellner both were optioned to Lincoln, Neb., of the Class A Western league, and Angelo (Pompy) Nardella was returned to Portsmouth in the Piedmont league.

Arnold Portocarrero, the 18-year-old Long Island high school boy who won 29 straight games, and Lou Limmer, first baseman, remained here for future assignment.

SHOW-DOWN IN PGA SETUP IS CARD MONDAY

Augusta, Ga., April 5 (AP)—The tempest within the PGA was temporarily calmed today but it's almost certain that things never will be the same again after a show-down meeting here Monday.

The meeting was originated by the PGA Executive committee to smooth the touchy feelings of many of the nation's greatest golfing stars.

Although George S. Snelberger, spokesman for the unhappy linkmen, was not invited to the meeting, there are indications that several of his "board of governors" will attend anyway.

Lawson Little, one of the governors representing stars who demand more authority in managing tournaments, said: "There will be meetings and we'll get everything worked out. We touring golfers will get a bigger voice in running our own affairs."

Jimmy Thomson, another governor, added that he was invited as an individual and intended going to the meeting.

Other governors, including such gold plate golfers as Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret, Ben Hogan and Jimmy Middlecoff, did not indicate their intentions.

Horton Smith, as secretary of the PGA, says the pros can have added authority if affairs turn out well Monday.

He said 11 governors were invited, but that the twelfth, Snelberger, was not. Snelberger is both chairman and spokesman for the group.

Snelberger was slashed from the PGA payroll Monday as tournament director. Smith and PGA President Joe Novak charged the Ogden, Utah, golfer with failure to comply with PGA policies.

Phil Marchildon Is Sent To Buffalo

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 5 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics sent sore-armed pitcher Phil Marchildon to the minor leagues today.

Thus Owner-Manager Connie Mack finally gave up on the big right-handed Canadian who once rated as one of the American league's top pitchers.

Marchildon was sent to the A's farm club at Buffalo in the International league.

Mack, in announcing Marchildon's departure at breakfast, said: "We went along with him as far as we could. I wish him all the luck in the world."

The 34-year-old Canadian was stunned. He didn't say a word.

Mack announced also the optioning of the right-handers, Charles (Bubba) Harris and Ed Hrabesak, to Buffalo. Harris started in relief for the A's in 1948 when he finished with a 5-2 mark in 94 innings. Last season, he won one and lost one.

Coach Warren Zimmerman's East Berlin high school baseball team, Adams County league champions last year, opened its season successfully Tuesday afternoon by defeating Hanover 10-8 in a free scoring game at Hanover.

East Berlin pushed over five runs in the sixth frame to take a 9-5 lead and then withstood a five-run rally by the Nighthawks in the final frame.

Today East Berlin is listed to meet Littletown on the latter's field at 4 o'clock in the opening Adams County league contest. In Tuesday's game Coach Zimmerman used three hurlers in a tryout role for the county loop tilts.

TRUMAN AWAITS ADVISORS' WORD ON GAS MEASURE

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

Key West, Fla., April 5 (AP)—A stream of telegram poured into the winter White House today for and against the controversial natural gas bill.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross gave no count as to their number or the percentage for or opposed to a veto.

He said Mr. Truman is awaiting recommendations from the Budget bureau and Federal departments concerned before making a decision, and that the decision may await his return to Washington Monday.

Mr. Truman is flying back Monday morning on the Air Force Constellation, "Dew Drop," in order to make his regular plane, the "Independence," available to the President of Chile, who is paying a state visit next week.

Veto Being Urged

Mrs. Truman is leaving Friday, driving to Miami to board a train for Washington. Margaret hasn't decided whether to go home with mother or dad.

Some of the President's closest advisors were urging him to veto the natural gas bill, which squeaked through the House by a two-vote margin. It would prohibit the Federal Power commission from fixing the price of gas delivered to pipelines by independent producers.

Some of the sponsors of the legislation were blamed by Presidential advisors for Senate failure to confirm former Chairman Leland S. Olds for a new term on the Federal Power commission.

The vacancy ultimately went to former Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington, whose nomination for chairman of the National Security Resources board previously was tabled by the Senate Armed Services committee.

ACQUIT STUDENT IN GIRL'S DEATH

Iowa City, Ia., April 5 (AP)—Robert E. Bednasek was found innocent today of the charge that he strangled pretty Margaret Anne (Gee-Gee) Jackson in a University of Iowa off-campus rooming house the early morning of last December 11.

This meant that the jury accepted the defense story that the pretty coed's death was "a tragic accident." The state had asked conviction for first degree murder and the death penalty.

The four women and eight men who decided against the state's theory that the beautiful blonde's death was "cold, calculated murder" motivated by jealousy had taken the case approximately 23 hours earlier.

Bednasek himself had appeared confident even before he received word that a verdict had been reached. Sheriff A. J. Murphy said he had to wake Bednasek up to give him breakfast, so soundly had the young man slept.

The court-room, though only half-filled, was taut with emotion as the verdict was passed to District Judge James P. Gaffney who read it after first admonishing against any demonstration. When the verdict of innocent was read, however, there was a shout of exultation from some of the spectators.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
MY HAT

I wonder who it was who invented the hat that we men wear? Apparently he was not very proud of his invention, for there are none who step up to sing his praise. Manufacturers have given their hats names, but that is only to identify them for commercial purposes.

I say MY hat, in the singular, for though I have a whole closet of hats, one particular one is my favorite companion. I have tried to give it personality and character. The older and more disreputable it appears the more I love it, and cling to it. I gave a modest purchase price for its possession, but like a pet dog, it has to be fed regularly, no matter where I take it. Ten cents here, and twenty-five cents there. Hat men know what I mean.

For years I trained one hat to my perfect liking. It was an intrepid hat, jolly in its form and substance.
I could toss it anywhere, and it would come back to me in as happy a mood as though it had never left me. It was soft and ovable. It showed its scars proudly. It was a democratic (no politics here) hat. It didn't care where it went, or how it was used. It had arrived at a state of hat patina. In other words, it had become an antique. I loved it.
Then one day some one stole it, and I had to go back to the business of training a new hat!

Now I am back to my hat in paragraph two, and I shall cling to it, come what may! It has already stood storms of snow and rain, and given shelter under many a blazing sun. It's a friendly companion and I am not going to desert it for the current fashion of no hat at all. And I don't believe in pampering my hat, by wearing a rain contraption over it to keep it meek. I want my hat to show its steeling stuff in emergencies. I want it to keep its ancestral spunk!

In a small manner of means my hat is my fortune, for it conceals to the passer-by, the persistent, though silent, disappearing down beneath it.
It's an undisguised hat but deadly proud! The late Dr. George Washington Carver had such a hat. One day some one stole it, and he refused to speak or discover anew, until it was returned. It came back.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Undying Memories."

LAWN
A lawn too perfect seems to me
Just like a house too neat.
Where all who enter never see
The marks of racing feet.

The sign, "Keep off the grass!"
I read
And sadly shake my head.
I think it shame to plant the seed
Where children may not tread.

Is beauty only for the eye,
Not for the heart to share?
If so, why happier am I
To look on places bare?

Where first base was I still can show.
The home plate still I see,
For where the green grass couldn't grow
Our children used to be.

rudely jarred. The Bombay police announce the discovery of a Hindu extremist plot which is said to be aimed against peace and to include the assassination of Nehru.

Fourteen or more leaders of extremist organizations have been arrested. Among them is V. D. Sa-varkar, Hindu leader and formerly president of the militant Hindu Mahasabha. He was acquitted on charges of conspiracy growing out of the murder of the late Mahatma Gandhi, the saintly exponent of peace.

Extremists Are Strong
But why, in heaven's name, a plot against Nehru and peace? Because there is a strong party of extremists who want Hindu India to make war on Moslem Pakistan as the result of reported mistreatment of Hindus in Moslem territory. Nehru stands for the peace taught by the Mahatma whom he revered.

That's the immediate cause of the hostility. However, the real basis of the bitterness goes back for generations. It lies in the age-old religious warfare between the two peoples. And it hasn't been one-sided. The bitterness is mutual, and with the passage of time it has become politico-religious.

It was this Hindu-Moslem split which precluded a politically unified Indian peninsula when England signaled her intention of granting independence. The ideal would have been to bring the vast subcontinent under one government, so that its diverse resources could be equally shared. But the divide was too great to be spanned.

Crux Of The Matter
The battle over the question of unity was at its height when I was in India in 1942-3, and the crux of the matter lay in the fact that the Moslems were a numerical minority.
There were roughly 90,000,000 Moslems as against close to 300,000,000 Hindus.

I discussed this matter with the late Mahomed Ali Jinnah, leader of the Moslems and later to be their first governor general after they received independence. Jinnah saw all the economic benefits of a unified Indian peninsula, but he was afraid to trust that Hindu majority of three to one against him.

Well, having also talked with some of the militant Hindu Mahasabha leaders, I could understand Jin-nah's misgivings. Then as now, the Mahasabha had thumbs down on the Moslems.

Peace Some Day
The result, of course, was that the Indian peninsula was split into two nations—Moslem Pakistan and Hindu India. Each country took the territories in which its own people predominated numerically.
That naturally created some awkward territorial divisions and, what was worse, many nationals of each government had to be left behind in "enemy" territory. Out of this dis-location of populations have grown bloody and destructive communal feuds.

So now the point has been reached where there are factions which actually want war. And there are violent-minded people who apparently have gone so far as to plot against the life of Nehru because he works for peace.

However, I believe we can take comfort from the very fact that the heads of the two great nations of the Indian peninsula are meeting in the interest of peace. Some day this goal, for which Gandhi gave his life, will be reached.

The Ptomaine Canary

By Helen Traubel

Chapter 6

(Synopsis: If you haven't read the five previous installments, you shouldn't start here and get a fla-vorless shortcut leading to this smashing climax. Therefore, we won't tell. Go and see if you can get some back copies from a neighbor and read the whole thing yourself.
Roughly, it involves a prima donna who reads detective stories, a pet canary who does a trick with seeds, a raft of detective story writers, an orchestra conductor who is dead and a red-headed police lieutenant.)

Quentin looked at Brunhilde.
"That true, Mme. Wagner?" Brunhilde was not happy. She was, she knew, in a very delicate spot. The thing was getting out of hand. There was no telling where it might end. She exhaled a frail smile and decided to explain this segment of the mystery.

"Yes," she said, "I accompanied them to the door. But not to the elevator. I took them upstairs to an empty apartment."

"What?" They were all gaping at her.
She poded morosely. "They're up there now all of them. Unconscious."

"Unconscious?"

"Yes. Come, I'll show you."
It was a bewildered and apprehensive safari that trooped after her. Bill was holding tightly onto her arm. When her fingers fumbled with the keys, he took it and opened the door. The sight of the authors, spread out on the Persian rug, peacefully snoring, left them slack-jawed with astonishment.

"The heat did it," Brunhilde explained. "The heat and a drug I soaked the birdseed in. But it wasn't cyanide and I didn't kill Otto Furst." As she spoke she seemed withdrawn and thoughtful.

Bill was incredulous. "But why, darling, why did you do it?"
"That's what I want to know," snapped Lieutenant Quentin.
"What in sanity's name was your motive?"

Brunhilde did not answer him.
The word "motive" struck a chord, and it kept clacking through her mind like a square wheel on a hump-backed railroad track; motive, motive, motive. So great was her preoccupation that she failed to hear Quentin's barked order to get the heat turned off and the windows open. The blast of cool air found her impervious.

Motive. There was the crux. Who had a motive for killing Otto Furst?
The gears in her brain slowly meshed. Ideas from the numberless mystery stories she had read, long buried in her subconscious, came seething to the surface. There were various motives, she remembered, for murder—love, jealousy, fear, gain—that was it, the greatest of these was the last.

Who stood to gain by Otto's death?

Something nudged her memory.
Excitement quickened her blood, suddenly she had it. She knew. It came to her in a flash of logic.
Slowly her eyes went around the room and she lifted a finger and pointed it.

"You!" she breathed. "You killed Otto!"

The silence was oppressive. All eyes centered on Lily Furst.
Lily laughed shortly, off-key.
"That's not very funny, darling."
"It's not meant to be. You killed him. You know you did. It has to be you. You were serving the drinks and it was you who gave Otto a cyanide highball."

Lily, drawing herself up straight, looked at the Lieutenant. "She's crazy. Absolutely unhinged. She must be. Look what she did to these authors. Why would I kill Otto? All I wanted from him was a divorce and he gave it to me."

"He gave you a settlement, too," Brunhilde said. "But it wasn't enough, was it?"

KUNKEL PLAYS DUFF POLITICS IN TOUGH TALK

Harrisburg, April 5 (P)—A strong, verbal attack on Gov. James H. Duff signalled the formal opening of Rep. John C. Kunkel's campaign to gain the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator.

In a statewide address last night, Kunkel charged Duff, his rival in the May 16 primary election, with making "a most brazen political deal" to win the spot.

"Are the decent-minded men and women of Pennsylvania going to control the outcome of the election—or a band of arrogant state and county bosses?" Kunkel asked.

"Brazen Political Deal"
"I charge Gov. Duff with having made the most brazen political deal in Pennsylvania history—a bargain to hand control of the state government over to political corruptionists in return for the financial support and their controlled votes on primary election day."

"It is political machine money and boss-controlled votes which are being counted on to put Duff in the United States Senate and to put Judge Fine into the Governor's office in Harrisburg x x x Let him (Governor Duff) deny the charges, if he dares."

Kunkel, who is forfeiting his seat in the House to run for the Senate, termed Fine, who retired from the State Superior court to run for Governor, "Duff's hand-picked candidate."

He referred to Fine as "a political judge, who in flagrant defiance of ethics and decency has been the boss of Luzerne county, which has the most corrupt political machine to be found in Pennsylvania."

Kunkel, a Harrisburg native, who has represented three central Pennsylvania counties, predicted that if either Duff or Fine "winds up on the Republican ticket, next November, the Democrats will slaughter all of us."

Meanwhile, Jay Cooke, who cancelled a tour of Bucks county to spend yesterday in Harrisburg, insisted once more that he is running for Governor as an independent. Often linked with the Republican faction headed by former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Cooke told a reporter he was not the "candidate of any particular group."

DECISION NEAR ON FUTURE OF WEST EUROPE

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, April 4 (P)—The United States, Britain and France appeared today to be approaching a critical point on the question of Germany's future. The outcome may also settle the fate of Western European organization.

The central issue, as seen by officials here, is whether Britain will join fully in the unity of Western Europe as a counter balance to German participation. Without Britain's wholehearted cooperation it is considered certain that France will be unwilling to accept Germany as a full scale partner.

The United States favors Western European union, including all three automatic breaker at Gettysburg failed to lock into position and fell open again. As a result Biglerville was cut off from all power until the cause was discovered and the switch could be held in place.

Crews from Gettysburg, York, Hanover, Dillsburg and Gardners worked throughout the night to replace the poles and the wires to restore the system. High winds hampered the handling of the 13,000 volts line which had to be replaced across a 4,600 volt line, thus causing great danger that the men doing the work would be electrocuted if the wind had thrown the line they were handling across the live wires. The workmen ended their job about 5 o'clock this morning.

of those nations, and feels that German participation is essential both to Germany and to its Western neighbors. But British and French policy, rather than American, holds the key to future developments.

McCloy's Speech
Some diplomats say the situation will be the most critical to be discussed by Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman when they meet in London next month.

Meanwhile, it was sharply pointed up last night in a speech which the American high commissioner for Germany, John J. McCloy, made in London. The speech reflected top policy thinking in the State Department here.

"The fact is," McCloy said bluntly, "we can not solve the German problem without fitting it into larger context of a United Europe."

At another point he said: "My friend of Britain aware of her problems, would dare urge any step which might prejudice Britain's existence or impair her position as a leader of nations. The United States, too, will have to do its share."

WHEN YOU FEEL WEAK AS A CAT

If you have that good-for-nothing feeling, like you are half-sick and half-well, and your nerve energy is weak and low, the chances are it is due to one thing: doctors call it:

BLOOD POVERTY

Your blood cells may be fagged-out or shrunken, and you might not realize it. Even if you eat the "best" foods you may not be getting all the good out of your meals simply because you have SLOW Digestion, without knowing it (or gassy stomach) and as a result you are a victim of Blood Poverty! In other words, your blood is not getting the fullest good out of what you eat. So your blood-cells become worn-down and you have only half as much energy as you really need, you get up in the mornings still tired, and your nerves become dull.

Hundreds here in Gettysburg suffered with "faded-out" blood and stomach gas until they got CERTA-VIN. This is the new medicine containing 12 Herbs blended with Vitamin B and Iron; you take it before meals and it works with your food. Benefit comes quickly. Your food digests FASTER, with less gasiness, and you get more good out of your meals. In a few days your blood is energized with new red cells and your nerves become stronger. Weak, rundown people tell us they soon feel different all over. And best of all, our price on CERTA-VIN is reasonable. You can actually take this New, modern medicine for only a Few Cents a Day! So don't go on feeling half-sick and half-well. Get CERTA-VIN — PEOPLES DRUG STORE, 25 Baltimore Street

ers. They also dyed eggs—a practice borrowed from the Persians—staining them red to symbolize Christ's sacred blood.

Gigantic Paschal candles were instituted under Pope Zosimus to light congregations watching on Easter eve. They were blessed while singing a triumphant hymn attributed to St. Augustine—the first "Easter music" ever composed.

Christian converts in northern Europe found it hard to give up their belief in Eostre, beautiful pagan goddess of Spring. Her name survives in our word "Easter." The Druids in England worshipped the egg as a symbol of the witch-goddess Creirwy or Llywy, who is still remembered in children's legend as Mother Goose with her golden egg. Polish children for centuries continued to throw painted eggshells into streams to carry their Easter greetings to gnat-like men living underground.

In medieval Europe it was the custom to put out all household fires on Easter eve. On Easter morning, in the church courtyard, a new fire was struck from consecrated flints. Parishoners took home blazing torches to relight their hearth fires, symbolizing the beginning of new life. Keeping these "holy fires" going was considered protection against storms, droughts, famines and plague.

In France and Belgium, church bells bestow more Easter eggs than the famed Easter Bunny. When the bells are silenced during Holy Week, parents explain they have flown off to get the Pope's blessing. The youngsters tumble outdoors before dawn on Easter to watch the bells "fly back from Rome" with Easter gifts. As the children scatter bon-bons and colored eggs in the grass.

For centuries, from Moscow to the Rhine, decorated eggs were the traditional Easter gift among devout Christians. Mailed to distant friends, however, these fragile Easter greetings often arrived shattered. About 1850, the practical folk of northern Germany began sending drawings of Easter eggs instead. Holy Land scenes were substituted a few years later.

Easter cards were introduced into the U. S. about 1880. Religious themes, popular at first, gave up their lead to playful chicks, bunnies and lambs about 1900.

While whimsical designs are still in heavy demand, popular taste in the post-war years has been swinging back steadily to reverent Easter cards, thus paying tribute to Easter's ancient tradition as the greatest feast day in the church year.

HARRY BRIDGES CONVICTION TO BE APPEALED

San Francisco, April 5 (AP)—Harry Bridges, CIO Longshore union laid plans today to carry to the Supreme court, if necessary, the fight against their leader's conviction on a charge that he lied to conceal he was a communist.

Bitterly assailing yesterday's verdict of a Federal court jury, the union's officers mapped a strategy that would counter possible moves to cancel Bridges' citizenship and have him deported to Australia.

But F. Joseph Donohue, the special prosecutor for the government in the stormy 81-day trial, said he felt certain the higher courts would find no basis for a reversal.

Will Cancel Citizenship
Donohue expressed belief that Bridges' conviction of committing perjury at his 1945 naturalization hearing would result in automatic cancellation of his citizenship, followed by deportation action. Bridges, 48, and two union aides convicted with him of also conspiring to commit perjury will be sentenced Monday. Seven year terms and $15,000 fines are possible.

From Sydney, Australia, whence Bridges shipped out in 1920 for a tumultuous career as a labor leader in the United States, came word by immigration officials that he probably would be allowed to return if ordered deported. Other government officials took the opposite view but said no decision would be made until an application required it.

The San Francisco regional office of the National Labor Relations board studied another aspect of the conviction. Whether it had any effect on the recent signing of non-Communist affidavits by Bridges and other officers of his International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union.

Those officers had held out for a long time against signing such affidavits. When they did so, they freely acknowledged the primary purpose was to be in legal position to resist any possible union raiding by the American Federation of Labor. Signing the affidavits was required in order for a union to have legal status before the NLRB.

reduction asked by the Production and Marketing administration to decrease the surplus of corn. Sell said.

Not Compulsory

He noted that there is no compulsion on the farmer to cut down his acreage. The only penalty that holds will result if he wishes to sell his corn to the government this year. If the farmer did not cut to the required acreage, the government would not purchase the corn.

The farmer who plans to sell his corn wherever he can find a market, or who wishes to feed his corn to his animals may plant whatever amount of corn he wishes. Last year's corn was supported at a $1.50 a bushel price. What next year's support price will be is not yet known.

This year marks the first time that an acreage cut, or allotment plan, has been employed, the local PMA official noted. The plan was made necessary because of the large amount of surplus corn the government had to buy.

Farmers who do not want to sell their corn to the government and wish to plant more than the allotment, will find that their compliance or rejection of the plan in no way affects other 1950 program practices, Sell said. The corn allotment affects only sale of corn to the government.

Poultry Pointers

By FREDERICK BLOCK
Brooder Temperature and Flushing

Some poultry raisers make the mistake in turning off the brooder stove when weather is nice and warm. It is their intention to turn the heat on again at night. This procedure does not result in any saving to the owner. Chicks, started even in summer, should have access to brooder heat at all times. It happens quite often that weather changes occur faster than the caretaker can manage to control in his brooder house. Moreover, when brooders are turned on suddenly there is not enough time to regulate the heat thoroughly, and over heating as well as chilling birds under seven or eight weeks of age is more costly than the saving on fuel.

When weather gets warm, electric brooders are much less costly to operate than coal oil brooders, and it is very difficult to regulate the heat in small houses which weather is warm. However it can be done by opening of windows, according to the prevailing temperature. When weather is fine the stronger birds may need no brooder heat, but do not forget that the weaker birds need to seek refuge under the artificial mother brooder unless they are to become "runts." Just when the strong ones move out during the milder weather, the weak ones will have a better chance to thrive and catch up.

Flushing which means a laxative stimulation and the increased water intake of birds is frequently recommended. It must be realized that flushing is not curing, and one should not flush birds unnecessarily. Salts for this purpose should be avoided, except in rare cases such as bluecomb. In the case of occidiosis, but only after a successful curing by one of the sulfa drugs mentioned in the last poultry pointer, flushing with molasses helps birds. It should be used five days after the last day of sulfa treatment, and not longer than for half a day. One pint of molasses for every four gallons of water gives a good flush.

father of John Peter Mueller who later became the leader of the Brethren at the Epworth Cloisters.

Moves To Conewago

The Schreiber family landed at Philadelphia and then moved to the Gehehenoppen neighborhood. The father soon died and his widow married John Herger. Andrew, Jr., learned the trade of tanner and shoemaker. The business of tanning was carried on by succeeding generations of Shriver's and as late as 1890 Louis E. and H. Wirt Shriver, great-great grandsons of Andrew, Jr., were engaged in the business at Union Mills.

Andrew Shriver freed himself from his apprenticeship about 1732 and worked for one year, during which he earned $78. With that start he married Anna Maria Keyser and in the spring of 1734 moved to the Conewago section on land of Digges Choice.

Schreiber, accompanied by his wife and step-brother, David Young, settled on what is now the Millard E. Basehoar farm, near Littlestown. He made 100 pairs of "Negro shoes," rough frontier shoes, to pay for his 100 acres of land, Kroh said. Their nearest neighbor was Adam Porney living where the town of Hanover is now. Porney settled in 1731.

Establishes Mill

Soon after Andrews settled here, his brother, Ludwig, followed to what was to become Adams county, establishing a mill on the Conewago creek near Conewago chapel. Andrew established a tanning business as well as farming and shoe making businesses.

Other early settlers in the Conewago area included: Peter Middlekauff, David Young, Michael Will, Ludwig Schreiber, John Jacob Kuntz, all from Montgomery county; Martin Kitzmiller from Lancaster county, Peter Ohler, Conrad Eckert, George Froschauer, John George Kuntz, John Morgenstern, Henry and Abraham Sell, Andrew Herger, Conrad Dottora, Peter Risher, Adam Miller, Jacob Benker (Bankert), George Mause, John Jacob Peeser, George Sponseller and Peter Little, founder of Littlestown.

Schreiber had to wait 15 years for his deed from John Digges, Kroh asserted. The proprietor of Digges Choice had mortgaged his 10,000 acres to Charles Carroll of Annapolis, and Squire Delaney, and it took that long before Digges could get a clear title.

Kroh showed a photostatic copy of the deed obtained from the Commissioner, Land Office, Annapolis, Md. The deed dated November 15, 1749, gives Schreiber's name the English spelling of Shriver and lists his residence as "Little Conewago in Baltimore county, Md." The deed indicates that a ground rent was claimed by Lord Baltimore.

Schreiber paid taxes to Maryland and apparently considered himself a resident of Maryland. In 1752, Kroh said, 40 persons lived within the limits of York county on tracts sold under Maryland rights.

With some holding deeds from Pennsylvania and some from Maryland, the disputed area was in a turmoil until the Mason-Dixon line ended the squabble. Kroh showed a photostatic of a petition from residents of the Littlestown area to the "Right Honorable James Hamilton Esquire Lieutenant Governor of the three Lower Counties of New Castle, Kent and Sussex upon Delaware and commander-in-chief of the Province of Pennsylvania," informing him that they lived on land in Lancaster county adjoining a certain tract of land belonging to John Digges containing 6,000 acres. Their petition asks Hamilton to do something about an attempt of Digges to claim an additional 3,000 acres. Digges, they said, threatened to sue them unless they paid 100 pounds for the land that had already bought from the Penns.

Mrs. E. S. Lewars, vice president of the society, presided at the meeting. Treasurer Harry T. Stauffer reported membership now totalling 94. Dr. Frederick Tilberg reported that the group will meet at the high school grounds here May 2 for a historical tour of Christ church near Littlestown and St. Mary's church at Paradise Protectors.

Littlestown Girl Is Injured In Crash

Miss Avereta Peeser, 20, Littlestown, was taken to the Carlisle hospital on Sunday evening by ambulance following an accident to the car in which she was a passenger about 10 miles south of Carlisle.

State police who investigated, charged George F. Griffe, Newville R. 3, with a motor code violation following the accident which occurred at an intersection and involved three cars. Griffe failed to heed a stop sign and his car was struck by a car driven by Robert M. Dagateno, of Indiana, Pa., which in turn hit the car of Lester Davis, of Peach Glen, which had stopped in a service station on the opposite side of the road.

Miss Peeser was a passenger in the Dagateno car.

REBELLION ON CLEAN STREAM
ORDERS LOOMS

Harrisburg, April 3 (AP) — The Commonwealth faced a rebellion today by a score or more of central Pennsylvania communities against orders to complete new sewage treatment plants by June 1, 1952.

The communities, located along the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers, have organized to fight the construction orders issued under the state's clean streams program.

The group met here yesterday and mapped plans to seek either a delay in start of construction or win state and federal aid to finance part of the cost. There was strong indication, however, that the Commonwealth would push forward its clean streams drive despite the threat of opposition.

Dr. Norris W. Vaux, state health secretary and chairman of the state Sanitary Water Board, directing the stream cleanup, said the central Pennsylvania communities "must face their obligations the same as all other places."

"This has to be done under the law," he declared, "and if we delay this indefinitely it will never get started."

No Excessive Hardship

Vaux said the problem of financing new sewage treatment plants is a difficult one for most places, but added that most communities are finding it possible to undertake the projects without excessive hardship.

Meanwhile, he said the Sanitary Water Board will be glad to hear an appeal by the central Pennsylvania group. The group decided yesterday to send a committee of six before the board to seek a delay in the construction deadline.

Vaux said the board will meet next on April 15 and 16 but added it might not be able to hear the committee at that time because of the heavy agenda already lined up.

Waiting For Cists To Drop

At the meeting yesterday, the group said it may try to start a state-wide movement against the clean streams program. It said it may also introduce bills in the 1951 legislature seeking state aid for sewage plant construction.

Some members said their communities will put the question of a bond issue to finance the sewage plants before their voters at the May 16 primary election.

The community officials emphasized that they are not opposed to the clean streams program as such, but rather they want to delay construction of sewage plants until costs

Interesting News Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

APPLE JUICE NO RARITY IN UPPER ADAMS

Biglerville storekeepers were amused this week by a news story out of Harrisburg declaring the borough a sahara as far as apple juice goes.

The Harrisburg story related that "Pennsylvania apple juice—flash pasteurized—is making a big hit with consumers as a fountain drink and breakfast fruit juice, the state Department of Agriculture declared today.

Right About Popularity

"An all-time estimated record production of 2,500,000 gallons has been or will be produced from the bumper Pennsylvania apple crop of 1949, the Bureau of Markets said. The juice is processed without use of a preservative in the three leading apple growing areas of the state.

"George Gooding, Loganville, York county, who is president of the State Horticultural association, declared the product has swept Pennsylvania and nearby states. Processors are having difficulty in keeping up with the demand while apple stocks are diminishing."

With that part of the story upper countians are 100 per cent in agreement, and they'll agree with the latter half of the story, too, if it sells more apple juice, but they confess privately that the facts are slightly mixed.

Facts Slightly Mixed

The Harrisburg story continues, "To illustrate the popularity of bottled and canned Pennsylvania apple juice Gooding tells this story:

"Biglerville, Adams county, is in the heart of the southeastern Pennsylvania apple belt. However many residents had never tasted apple juice until they sampled it at the both of the horticultural association at the 1950 Farm show, largely because the juice is not processed in Biglerville. Returning from the Farm show they clamored for it until the druggist offered it as a fountain drink. He now sells it by the case."

Upper countians note that the apple juice provided for the horticultural association booth came from the C. H. Musselman company of Biglerville, the Knoose Cooperative of Peach Glen and a Reading processor.

Have Many Outlets

Admitting that the juice is not processed at Biglerville, the upper countians point out that many of the apples that go into the juice are sent from Adams county to the Inwood plant of the Musselman company. However the product is available at the Biglerville plant of Musselman's, and is bought there by a number of the employees of the plant and by other individuals. In addition every grocer carrying the Musselman or Knoose lines have the juice and both companies are willing to admit that they have a number of outlets in the Biglerville and upper Adams area, as well as elsewhere, and that those outlets sell their share of apple juice.

The story from Harrisburg noted that "Pennsylvania apple juice is a blend of different varieties. Much of it is handled through automatic dispensing machines in office buildings, factories, airports, bus and railway stations.

"Storage stocks of Pennsylvania apples intended for fresh market are nearly gone. Most apples remaining in storage houses are held by processors for making into juice and apple butter."

SOUTH MOUNTAIN FAIR SEEKING MORE HELPERS

The South Mountain Community Fair association is seeking additional volunteer help for the forthcoming and succeeding fairs.

To help defray the present $35,000 debt and an expected additional debt of $15,000, the association is planning among other things to return to its pre-war policy of operating its own restaurants and similar concessions during this year's fair, the board of directors announced.

That will mean approximately $4,000 more per year in the coffers of the fair association, but it will also mean that a greatly enlarged force of volunteer workers will be needed to man the concessions.

Must Reduce Debt

Last year and the year before various local organizations operated the restaurants at the fair. This year, however, the fair association itself will take over.

The move is necessary because of the need for additional income in order to carry out the plan of putting the association on a debt free basis, the letter indicated.

Because of the debt the association now has to charge a moderate rental for use of buildings at the fair grounds by groups, it was pointed out. The association hopes to make it possible to offer all of the facilities at the fair grounds to any civic, social or religious organization or groups without cost, except possibly for fuel. That plan can be carried out as soon as the debt is paid off.

Need More Helpers

In its letter the association pointed out: "The next fair will be held September 6, 7, 8 and 9. Consideration is being given to the problem of operating the fair in a way that will channel all the profits of the project into the treasury of the Fair association. This will mean that as many of the concessions as possible, including eating facilities, be operated under the direct control of the Fair association. Many more people will be called upon to offer their services during Fair Week."

While seeking to increase the fair's income, the board is also seeking to give the customers more for their money, the letter reveals.

May Change Rates

At present, the board is considering raising the gate admission for adults to $1 including tax, and then making no admission charge to the entertainments on the fairground. Such a plan would mean a saving to most of the fair attendants who not only pay gate admission but also attend the entertainments to which an admission is charged. Children's admission will probably be set at 50 cents and the usual policy of permitting all children under six years of age to enter free, and giving all school children free admission on Wednesday and Friday afternoons will be carried out.

By having the gate admission cover everything it will be possible to vary the entertainment from day to day rather than have the same entertainment each day the board pointed out. This year the entertainment program will be carried out as in the past, with a professional show presenting the same acts throughout the week, it was stated, since arrangements for the shows must be made a year ahead.

SELF DEFENSE IS CITED IN SLAYING

Somerset, Pa., April 5 (P)—Sheriff Karl I. Hare said a justice of the peace last night shot and killed a coal operator against whom he had issued an assault warrant a short time earlier. Joseph M. Deist, 47, of Boswell, Pa., died of a 32 caliber bullet through the heart.

The sheriff said the shot was fired by Charles J. Harrison, Jr., about 65—apparently in self defense. Harrison suffered a heart attack shortly afterwards and was placed in "protective custody" at his home. His condition was described as serious.

Hare gave this version of events leading up to the shooting: Deist's wife charged her husband with beating her and their two children. Harrison told Deist over the telephone that his bond would be $2,000 and Deist replied "I'm coming over to get you."

Deist went to the Harrison home and the shooting followed. Police said they found Deist in the front yard, an unfired .22 caliber pistol under his body.

Harrison, a justice of the peace for 17 years, is also president and a director of the County Trust company of Somerset.

CALL WITNESS AT MERCY TRIAL

Allentown, Pa., April 5 (AP)—The first prosecution witness will be called today before a jury of eight men and four women chosen to hear Harold Mohr's story that he shot his 58-year-old blind, cancer-ridden brother to death out of pity.

Harold went on trial yesterday on charges of murder and voluntary manslaughter in the slaying of his brother, Walter, in their home at nearby Copley on March 8.

The 36-year-old tannery worker pleaded innocent to the charges although he previously signed a statement that he shot Walter because he "asked me to do it. He was in misery and I felt pity and sorrow for him."

The jury, together with two women alternates, was selected yesterday before court adjourned.

Legal maneuvering of attorneys for both sides indicated the state will not seek the death penalty and the defense will seek to condone the slaying as merciful.

Defense Attorney Harry C. Creveling disclosed two psychiatrists from the University of Pennsylvania's medical school examined Harold last Sunday and may be called as witnesses. They are Dr. A. M. Ornstein and Dr. Gabriel Schwartz.

MISSING GIRL HAD PASSPORT

Philadelphia, April 5 (AP)—Police searching for Gertrude Colston Nauman today pursued the possibility that she may have sailed for France.

Maj. William F. Hoffman, directing the state police investigation of the girl's disappearance, said the 19-year old Bryn Mawr college junior was planning a summer vacation trip to Paris and had obtained her passport for the voyage.

Customs officials in Philadelphia and New York have been requested to be on the lookout for the tall, attractive girl, Hoffman added.

Miss Nauman, an amateur artist, visited Paris last year with a party that included several classmates and was headed by a woman professor of French at Bryn Mawr.

Hoffman said the $200 in traveler's checks Miss Nauman cashed and other funds in her possession might have helped finance a trip to France aboard a freighter.

Miss Nauman was last seen March 24 when she left the college campus, ostensibly to return to her home in Harrisburg, Pa., for a 10-day vacation. When she failed to return for the reopening of classes, her father, Spencer G. Nauman, socially prominent attorney, offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to her return.

Favorable Action On Finletter Seen

Washington, April 5 (AP)—Senator Tydings (D-Md.) today forecast early and favorable action on President Truman's appointment of Thomas K. Finletter as secretary of air.

Finletter's nomination was signed yesterday at the winter White House in Key West, Fla.

"It is one of the best appointments the President has made," Tydings, chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee, told a reporter. "Mr. Finletter is well qualified."

It may be possible to act on the nomination at a session of the Armed Services committee Thursday, Tydings said, "although we usually let these nominations wait for a week."

Washington, April 5 (AP)—The Veterans Administration figures it would be cheaper to heat the new veterans hospital in Philadelphia with oil than with coal, Rep. Ivor D. Fenton (R.) of Mahanoy City, Pa., said.

Fenton told reporters yesterday—after he and representatives of the Anthracite Institute of Wilkes-Barre conferred with VA technicians—that the VA formerly estimated it would cost $15,000 a year more to burn coal and oil now, he said, the estimate is only $9,000 more.
